NAD+

What is NAD+

NAD (nicotinamide adenine dinucleotide) is an essential coenzyme found in every cell of the body. Replenishing NAD+ promotes cellular regeneration, repairs DNA, protects brain cells, reduces inflammation and stimulates enzymes to perform important biological processes to support healthy ageing.

Recommendations

To maximise the advantages of NAD+ therapy, we suggest a treatment plan consisting of three infusions over the course of three weeks. This approach allows for a gradual increase in your NAD+ levels, enabling your body to absorb, repair, and regenerate more efficiently. Sustaining higher levels of NAD+ leads to more enduring and noticeable improvements. After this initial phase, maintenance infusions can be considered. The nurse will consult with you to tailor a treatment plan that suits your individual needs.
